FLYING ARTILLERY

The close support given by our Rocket Typhoons to our Armies has been one of the outstanding features in the Campaign of the west. Our Commanders have been able to call upon them as quickly as they would upon the Artillery. Wherever the enemy is wether in retreat or massing for a counter attack The Typhoons are on the job ready to strike with Rockets or Cannon. Nowhere is he safe when our Typhoons are on the job with Rockets and Cannon attacking transport, observation towers, mortar positions, tanks, fortified factories and barges.

No weapon is more feared by the Germans than the Rocket firing Typhoon with its 8 rockets which travel towards their target at the speed of 1000 miles per hour with a tremendous striking power.

NOTE. In some of the attacks seen in this film the puffs of smoke as Typhoon in front of the camera aircraft releases its rockets, can be seen and these rockets are seen striking the target.
