

AFTERMATH IN GERMANY

From Hamburg the first batch of the surrendered German army was sent to a camp in Schleswig-Holstein. The laws of war distinguish between men taken prisoner in battle and those who surrender when armies capitulate, the class to which these men belong. They will soon be free for farming and other essential work - under ~~the~~ our supervision.

The American General Patch set free King Leopold the Belgians from detention in Austria. It is not yet certain when King Leopold will return to Brussels. His Consort, Princess De Rethy was with him. Belgium is still debating the King's future.

Hitler's famous house at Berchtesgaden looks a sorry mess after its visit by the ~~RAF~~ R.A.F. in one of the last raids of the war. It's all in keeping with the shabby and sordid end of the Nazi Regime. This was the house where Hitler plotted the annexation of Austria and the whole sequence of events leading up to the World War. Goering had a place close by. Train loads ~~In a room was found part~~ of his collection of ~~art~~ art - were taken away.
treasures, looted from conquered capitals, ~~The value~~
T value of what he stole runs into millions. Experts supervised its removal from it came a much out of broken.
The treasures will be returned to the flightful owners as soon as possible.

Meanwhile Allied soldiers saw an exhibition of some of the works. ~~of art~~. All ~~the~~ the ~~top~~ top-line Nazis looted to their hearts' content, but in this direction Goering surpassed them all.

This was the end of Himmler. ⁴In this house at Luneburg he was interrogated and found to be in possession of poison phials. ~~He~~ He was caught, with two of his S.S. thugs, posing as a discharged soldier. But for the vigilance of British guards they might have escaped. In the house Himmler admitted his identity and soon afterwards lay dead from the poison concealed in his mouth. The man who, after Hitler, killed and tortured more human beings than anyone in the history of the world, dared not face the consequences. In his days of power he brought terror to millions. To such degenerates power must never be given again.
