

Guaranteed from the look of it to add sea-sickness to air sickness this 500-foot landing strip has been designed to provide refuelling points on long range transocean air travel. Landing is facilitated by the arrester gear. Lily's inventor, R.M. Hamilton saw how rockets are used to assist the take-off. Nothing like a kick in the tail to cure that sea-sick feeling.