WEDD INGL.

This little lady stole the picture when we went along to the Reyal Military Chapel at Wellington Barracks. The bride, Miss Virginia Stuart Reynolds, looked more charming and radiant even than most brades and the bridegroom was a distinguished officer in the grade Grenadier Guards. Tall guardsmen formed a guard of honour as Mr Gerald Potter ledhis bride from the church but I still think the little bridesmaid stole the picture.

declaration of the amnesty and the release of political priseners the gallant President has returned amid rejoicing. Flowers bedecked his triumphant path, which must seem very nice to himm because a Spanish prison is no flower shop.

Lord Lonsdale went to King's Crees to perform an unveiling ceremony. The Arsenal football team and Mr George Allison were also a new there because hhe occasion was the naming of the L.N.E.R. engine, and the name was Arsenal Lord Lonsdake, active as ever, climbed up into the engine cab to have a chat with the driver, but Mr Allason stayed behind to look after the ball.
