LIFE GUARDS INSPECTION.

King Edward held a review and inspection of the Life Guards in Windsor Great Park, and thousands of schoolchildren cheered as he took the salute on the glittering parade --- the famous regiment drawn up under the command of Lt Col. E.H.Wyndham. With the King was his uncle the Earl of Athlone, who thus made his first appearance as Colonel of the Life Guards. The Guardsmen kept a magnificent line as they galloped past the saluting base. ~~At the end of the parade~~ The parade over, King Edward led his troops back to barracks in Windsor.

~~REMY~~

H.M. WITH THE R.A.F.:

In the first inspection of the Royal Air Force since his accession to the throne the King arrived at Northolt by air from Windsor, accompanied by his brother the Duke of York. The plane was piloted by Flight lieutenant Fielden A.F.C. and on landing His Majesty was ~~accompanied~~ met by the Chief of the Air Staff, Air Chief Marshal Sir Edward Ellington. The King inspected aircraft and crews of the No. 1 Fighter Squadron from Tangmere, No. 111 of Northolt and No. 19 of Duxford. Wearing Royal Air Force uniform His Majesty gave minute attention to the details of all the units under inspection, both on the ground and in ~~the air~~ the air. Aerobatics and squadron evolutions against a sky brilliant with cloud effects were watched by his Majesty with complete absorption. As he listened to technical descriptions he showed a surprisingly intimate knowledge of modern aviation. With the Forces His Majesty is becoming increasingly popular
