

BEARS.

St Louis --- Two European bears had a family of triplets, and our Roving Cameraman roamed in to call on the kids. Mind the step--- hup! This place is nothing but steps. ~~He another step~~ hey, Mum! Not so rough!

BUDGET.

London --- Mr Neville Chamberlain was the man ~~x~~ of the hour when he left No 11 Downing Street to give his Budget to Parliament... his last before becoming Prime Minister. But ~~and~~ he gave the newsreel ^{lead to} nothing. While putting up the income tax to 5/- in the pound the Chancellor said he thought that was as high as it ought to be. ~~He's taking us!~~ Perhaps they'll make the summons cheaper.

GEORGE V MEMORIAL.

Amice Queen Mary greeted the Duchess of Gloucester with a kiss when the Royal Family arrived at the Guards' Chapel, Wellington Barracks. Their Majesties the King and Queen ~~were already there to unveil~~ ^{were already attending} the Memorial to King George V. After the inspection, King George performed the ceremony of unveiling the memorial, which Guardsmen had raised to their late Colonel in Chief.

TOMMY FARR.

Tonypandy turned out in force to welcome its own special hero --- Tommy Farr, the British and Empire heavyweight champion who scored so great a victory over the ex-world champion, Max Baer. Tommy had another fight here, but luckily it was only a very friendly one, trying to get through the crowd. So here's another special cheer for Champion Tommy Farr.
