

DEBUTANTES.

One of the sights of London for Coronation visitors might have been the cars assembled outside Buckingham Palace, filled with lovely debutantes waiting to be presented at their Majesties' first Court. But to avoid traffic congestion the police arranged that all cars should drive straight in. This year there was no waiting --- and what London saw was ~~xxx~~ ~~xx~~ hardly a parade of debutantes --- It was more of a motor show.