DUKE O GLOUCESTER AT POLO.

The Duke of Gloucester played No. 1 for the Air Force when they met the Navy for the Duke of York's Cup at Ranelagh. The game was exceptionally fast --- and the Royal Duke's hard riding and hitting was a feature of the match. But in spite of all the Air Force efforts, victory went to the Navy. The Cup was presented ~~to them~~ by the Duchess of Gloucester to their Captain --- Lord Louis Mountbatten. ^

And on the same day the Duke of Kent was busy opening the hospital buildings at the Lord Mayor Treloar home for Crippled Children. His Royal Highness opened the door and went in to inspect the new artificial sunlight room. Speaking as a father, the Duke said --- "It is our first duty to look after our children" The Royal visitor chatted with many little patients, giving a happy memory to offset the shadows of unfortunate childhood. ~~G. MONKEY.

One thing about a monkey is that he'll chum up with anybody, but Osbert picked out a friend so small that half the time he couldn't find him. You're looking in the wrong place, you silly nut! Now his friend Ethelbert was not particularly interested in making friends as long as he was well-fed and well-dressed. ^ But for Osbert if you can ~~in life is real and life is earnest, and after all if you can~~ look your fellow man in the face if you can find his face, and say I have found a friend -- if you can find him --- it will be ~~rewarded in your favor that you may enter~~ ---- oh, there you are!
