

ROYAL GIRL GUIDES.

468

A thousand girl guides attended the National Service in St George's Chapel, Windsor. The Princess Royal, President of the guides was present with Lady Baden Powell, Chief Guide. And the Royal Family made a happy group as they watched the march past. The King and Queen were present and Queen Mary --- and so were the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. Princess Elizabeth, the heir to our throne, is a member of the Kingfisher Company of the Guides ----- Princess Margaret Rose is a Brownie of the Leprechaun Patrol. Delightful and intimate studies, these pictures show our royal family happy and human and democratic as ever.

ROSE DAY.

The Duchess of Kent follows ably in the footsteps of Queen Alexandra, ~~in~~ playing the leading part on Rose Day. For no charity does the public give more willingly --- and fortune favours the day, for nearly always the weather is fine. This year was no exception --- sunshine and 3 miles made Rose Day happy and profitable. One ~~distinct~~ distinguished purchaser was Mr Neville Chamberlain.. Outside No. 10 with Mrs Chamberlain, ~~paid~~ the Prime Minister paid up with a smile. On the previous day at Reading Mr Chamberlain received the degree of Doctor of Letters.
