

NAVY DIVERS.

Washington --- Deep sea divers of Uncle Sam's Navy completed ten years of experiments with an attack on the world's record. Instead of compressed air, a mixture of oxygen and helium was pumped down to the man who explored a greater depth of ocean than any other diver has seen. He went down five hundred feet and had a peep into Neptune's basement.

Montana --- More power for the west. A huge new dam has made another Niagara for the cowboy country. It's a rainbow crock of gold --- power means money, and the Indians on whose tribal lands it has been built have been promised $7\frac{1}{2}$ million dollars. That's one reason why they look happy beside their new 77,000 horse power giant.

France --- General Gamelin, Commander in chief of the French Army, paid a visit to several towns on the eastern frontier. He inspected fortifications on the famous Maginot Line. Twenty-five thousand troops passed in review before the Army's chief -- including tanks and other ~~newer~~ mechanized units.
