499

Palestine is in the headlines again. Sir Harold MacMichael the High Commissioner, called on Britain's Colonial Secretary, Mr Malcolm MacDonald, to discuss the situation in that troubled and troublesome country.. British troops are there to keep order, but outrages continue despite the sternest measures and despite all precautions which have been taken to forestall the use of unauthorized firearms. Almost at the same time as the Commissioner and the Cabinet Minister were considering the problem, news came through of fresh outrages, ~~in which British soldiers were concerned.~~ ~~Since the last September, flames of violence~~ ~~have spread to the Jordan valley.~~ But the work goes on --- ~~There~~ ~~There~~ ~~imported peasants till~~ ~~the Holy~~ Land ~~the soil and build the new state.~~ There has been trouble too in Rangoon. Beneath the ornate Burmese dome of the Golden Pagoda stands a British sentry. ~~quiet.~~ ~~Many have been reported killed.~~ This is another of the world's hot-spots --- it's the soldier's job to keep it as cool as possible.
