KENNEL CLUB SHOW? CAT SHOW AND CATTLE SHOW.

The Kennel Club Show was held this year at Olympia --- and it is here that the champions of their kind come to compete for cups and firsts and honourable mentions. But before they catch the judge's eye they have to go through a complicated toilet--- you can sympathize with these poor dogs, especially if you've ever suffered from powder on the dinner jacket. But there's something about a dog show --- apart from the dogs ---you get a nice class of people, don't you think? Paris has a cat show. Some of the three hundred cats shown here arrived by aeroplane. At least --- that's what our French cameraman tells us, but you have to be a bit careful what you believe from a man in Paris who's been seeing flying cats. This year the Smithfield Club Cattle Show was opened by His Majesty the King. His Majesty himself is an exhibitor here, and usually carries off one or two prizes with stock from the royal farms. The show is held at the Royal Agricultural Hall at Islington --- this year with music. They say that music has a most extraordinary effect --- ^{gay} tunes make cattle ^{happy} ~~calm~~ --- ^{gay} tunes make them ^{happy} ~~calm~~.
