

LADIES POLO.

Here's a polo story from New Jersey. Its the first feminine East-West polo tilt with a strong team from ~~New Jersey~~ Long Island out to win national honours from a crack Californian quartette. Some of the best lady poloists in the country are up in the saddle- their ponies are well-trained, and they dash for the goal like regular race horses. The East leads the attack with 5 smashing goals. Nothing can stop their breakneck pace and the Eastern girls charge to a 7-6 victory.

RODEO.

And in California, its the opening meet of the rough riding season. At Barbank the rodeo is in full swing. Robert Taylor and other notabilities came to watch the fun. Cowboys leapt on and off these prancing steeds- and sometimes boy and buck remain^{ed} "put" through sheer exhaustion. Its all for charity- if charity begins at home, then it might have been safer to stay there- don't you think?
