

✓ 604

TRAIN SMASH.

Four lives were lost and thirty people were injured when two parts of the Night "cot from Euston were involved in this collision. ~~at Euston in Buckinghamshire.~~ <sup>From</sup> The head-on position of the engines and the mass of twisted metal, one could only marvel that the casualties were not ~~xxxxx~~ greater. A light engine had been shunting a coach on to the rear portion of the train and the impact forced it on to the platform.

DEAL BOAT.

Off the coast in various parts of Britain, merchant ships lie at anchor. They have been held by patrol ships of the Navy for search for contraband --- and thousands of tons of goods ~~xxxx~~ intended for Germany have been seized. Among them was the Mahratta which finished on the Goodwins with a broken back. She carried 10,000 tons of general cargo.

QUEEN?

Somewhere in London, the Queen paid a visit to a casualty evacuation train. Her Majesty wore blue grey and a grey fox fur. Even in wartime there was a little girl ready with a bouquet and a smile. Members of the nursing staff were presented personally, and Her Majesty made a thorough inspection of all the details of this Red Cross train which is fitted with all the latest equipment for relieving suffering.