

that too had - his in morning

D 717

RUGBY MATCH.

Our cameraman ~~was at Oldham when he took~~ ^{obtained} these exclusive pictures of England and Wales as they took the field for their International Rugby Match at Oldham.

England are in white jerseys, Wales in red.
Belshaw won the toss for England and Wales kicked off.

Both sides soon attacked in a downpour of rain, which quickly turned the ground into a quagmire. Soon it was ^{hard} difficult to find any white jerseys on the field.
* Wales ~~opened the score after 10 minutes of play by scoring~~ ^{scored} a try which was converted.

~~Then England touched down, but failed to convert. Instead of a sea of faces, there was only a sea of mud, but it was an exciting game---~~

When the end came, England ran out the winners, beating Wales by 8 points to 5.

* There were several exciting rushes on both sides - and the standard of play was remarkable good despite the difficult conditions -

By now you will have realised, that this match is being played under Rugby League Rules not Rugby Union!