

BUSMEN'S HOME GUARD.

You might think that bus drivers and conductors who work through the blitz are doing quite a bit for victory. But a lot of them are doing even more. Hundreds of them are in the Home Guard: and very smart and efficient they look too: the biggest unpaid army in the world is now a real force in the defence of Britain.

Bus drivers and conductors are normally quite pleasant fellows. But I think they'd be a bit rude to Jerry.
