832

FIFTY YEARS SUCCESSFUL SHOWMANSHIP.

Another of the famous Foyle's Luncheons at Grosvenor House --- this time to pay tribute to Mr.

Charles B.Cochran, on his theatrical Jubilee. The great impressario was not in the best of health and

asked to be permitted to make his speech sitting down;

and he was too modest to talk about his achievements,

but told an excellent story. And then Miss Sarah

Churchill, who was once a Cochran Young Lady, presented

. with the Cochran Book and husband Vic Cliver made a speech. Arthur Askey made the ideal after-lunche on speech.

and now let's hear a few words from Lupino Lane