BOMBING ROMMEL'S TROOPS IN TUNISIA.

Boston bombers bombing up on airfields in Tunisia --- these are the instruments of softening up before our big effort to clear North Africa. This is a bomber station of the U.S. Army Air Force, joining with the R .A.F. in the ~~pounding~~ pounding of Axis defence lines.

Target for to-day is an olive grove; reconnaissance flights have disclosed it as a hiding place for Rommel's armour.

Approaching the target -- you'll see the neat, geometrical olive grove --- and the plastering it received ^{leaves} no doubt about the weight of our air attack in Africa.
