

~~Austria:~~ ^{frontier} For many months, this well-guarded ~~border~~ has been the last outpost of freedom in Eastern Europe. Beyond it lay Hungary - a country enslaved by Communist domination.

But to-day, the barriers are down. The Austrian frontier-town of Nickelsdorf becomes a highway of mercy. Red Cross supplies from many lands are being rushed into Hungary - to help relieve the suffering of a ~~brave Nation that has been paying for freedom with its blood.~~ brave Nation ~~that has~~ paying for freedom with its blood. /S

Food, too, has become a major necessity - in the devastated cities and towns that have seen days of bitter fighting. /

Along the same route went newsreel cameramen and foreign journalists, to be warmly greeted by the Hungarians. For here was proof that their battle ^{against} ~~over~~ suppression and isolation was gaining ground.

The first big town the camera-team reached was Győr. This is the headquarters of the ~~free~~ "Free Hungary" movement, with thousands of patriots determined not to give up until every Russian has ^{gone.} ~~been driven out.~~ /

~~Already political prisoners~~ ^{who had led earlier resistance to an alien regime,} ~~who had led earlier resistance to an alien regime,~~ have been liberated. /

Heavy has been the price of freedom. And sorrow is the lot of relatives who mourn brave patriots. ~~It is a heavy price, but it is a price worth paying.~~

~~But whatever the future brings,~~ But whatever the future brings, Hungary will be strengthened by the ~~memory~~ memory of those who fought, and died, in their unequal bid for freedom... /
