

Portsmouth: Filing past Nelson's famous flagship "Victory" - a ship's company symbolises the march of modern Naval progress.

These are the men who will man H.M.S. Victorious: the most modern aircraft carrier in the world, following seven years of reconstruction.

Later, the ship's company filled the vast hangar, when the Chaplain of the Fleet conducted the traditional <sup>of more than 2,000</sup> ~~Commissioning~~ <sup>Commissioning</sup> Ceremony.

After her sea trials, "Victorious" will join the Home Fleet.

An early visitor to the gallery was Georgina Moore - the model ~~...~~ <sup>H.R.H.</sup> - who "stood-in" for the Princess.
