NOT A MOUSE IN THE HOUSE.

Day out for the Brooklyn Mousers; Annual Cat Show for the aristocrats, where the blue-bloods purr or show their claws according to temperament.

A fine assortment of cats running from sleek-coated Persians to the oriental-eyed Siamese.

This prize winning beauty rests on its laurels with contentment. The Persian kitten tries look a bit down in their luck. What did the Judge say, Pass?

All sorts of fancy ideas on rearing cats are to be seen, including this tabby who got into the habit of taking supper out of a bottle after watejing father.

Yes Sir, that's a drop of the real stuff .
