

SPORTS EDITION - SPECIAL

INTERNATIONAL ICE HOCKEY

Sweden's world famed Hammarby Club of Stockholm took on an English League side at ice hockey at Wembley's Empire Pool. Playing from right to left, Sweden gave England a lesson in combination and speed. One look at these boys and you know why ice hockey rates as the world's fastest game.

The home side scored only twice - Sweden skidding through at racing pace to notch up fourteen goals to England's two.

Here's another for the fjord flyers - England were good as individuals but the Swedish team-work was absolutely sensational. The home side had no answer for it - and the goals piled up. Swedish ace Helger Marmela personally chipped in with a five goal quota. Watch 'em go and you'll see why.

Fourteen to two - a triumph for Sweden and a birthday for 9,000 spectators. After the flyers, the sweepers took over to give the ice a brush up. They look like a fancy dress party, waiting for dance. And then, for good measure, laughs on ice with Czechoslovak comic "Wondrous" in his Popeye act with a dame that's not only dumb but dumber.

Here's a new way to get laughs - no matter what you do, she won't say a word.