

52/55QUEEN BACK IN ENGLAND

Recently back from Scotland, the Queen visits the British North Greenland Expedition ship "Tottan" to meet twenty-five British explorers. The party will explore land pioneered by a British air party last year, and filmed by Pathe. In charge of the sleigh dogs is Lieutenant Erskine, R.N. Latest equipment includes eighty-four Maklark overboots. Science has given the explorer lightweight warth which makes the old style look like a polar-bear in a blanket but it still weighs thirty pounds! And here's one of the arctic tents they'll use. The heat wave was on when we filmed the crew; it was more like India's coral strands, than Greenland's icy mountains!
