

Virginia

STOCK CAR RACE

At Richmond, Virginia, a wave of a flag gives the start signal for one of the wildest, craziest stock car races ever staged. Most of them look like fugitives from a junk yard, but there's plenty of power left in 'em yet.

If anyone's in your way, bump him - that's the rule of the road here, and believe it or not, there's not a single woman driver.

If the game gets too rough, leave the track.