

2-170201

54/79.

BRITISH WARS AT PARIS MOTOR SHOW.

Nine countries take the stands at the International Motor Show in Paris. A sleek sunbeam Talbot is one of the 27 British entries, and here's a Jaguar. This show, the forty-first of its kind in Paris, is recognised as the most representative held anywhere in the world. A studebaker Champion helps wave the flag for America.

Stars of the opera "Porgy and Bess" are among the crowd taking a close-up of the XP-21 Firebird, the first gas-turbined car ever built in the United States. The 200 horse power engine is situated behind the driver. Great Britain led the field in the development of jet-cars we produced our first about four years ago. There's the business-end of the Firebird.

As in Britain, there's small car war going on in France. The family man over there just "window shops" at such models as this. If rumours are true, Britain's car-makers are saving their biggest secrets for our own Motor Show.

—

A.L.C. No. 398.

24
At Blackpool in the Winter Gardens, a great ovation greets Mr. Eden as he rises to address the delegates assembled for the Conservative Annual Conference. The Foreign Secretary refers to Communism in Europe.

( UP )

41
Speaking of the decision taken at the recent 9 power conference to recognise the sovereignty of Germany, Mr. Eden says .....

( UP )

228
On the final day of the conference, Sir Winston Churchill is the main speaker. The Premier, who Mr. Eden had referred to as "the greatest man upon this earth", also speaks of the 9 power meeting: RHC

( UP )

News
54-79.