IKE GREETES QUEEN MOTHER.

Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother is greeted by Secretary of State Foster Dulles when she arrives in Washington. President Eisenhower had sent his personal 'plane, Columbine, to New York to fly Her Majesty to the American capital. Meanwhile at the White House, the President and Mrs. Eisenhower wait to welcome the Queen Mother.

"It's wonderful to see you", says the President.

Now America's First Lady greets the Queen Mother who wears a blue coat and dress and a silver fox stole. The Vice President, Mr. Nixon, and his wife, add their welcomes to the Queen Mother who is to spend a week in Washington.
