

ENGLISH PAIR WIN DANCINGTITLE:

On the floor at Hamburg's Festival Hall the twenty best dancers of Europe competed in the final of the European Professional Championship. Eight countries were represented; super-experts in the quick-step, with variations that anybody can master - after a few years practice.

Winners of the European title for the last three years, and showing excellent form once again were Harry-Smith-Hampshire and Doreen Casey. Both from London.

By a big vote the London couple were declared the winners; a great performance; victors for the fourth year running.
