"Tree-bicycle"

In order to establish the damage, caused to the precious Douglas firtrees in Holland, by the draught of the summer-months, these trees have to be climbed. This is done by means of the so-called "tree-bicycle", an ingenious apparatus, designed in Switzerland.

In a very short time you can climb trees of about 30 metres.

Our camera-man observed the works from another tree.

At the place where the branches begin you can't climb with the tree-bicycle and you have to go further on feet.
