TITLE.:- EMPIRE DAY IN BERLIN.

Picture.:- It's the sixtieth anniversary of the Proclamation of the German Empire at Versailles, and Berlin celebrates --

--it with a picturesque parade of colours from the Reichstag.

Of course, President Hindenburg is there, --

--although the old order has changed so drastically. ... The grand old gentleman acknowledges the military salute, and the plaudits of the people. ... He then proceeds to inspection of the guard drawn up in his honour.

Despite constitutional changes the people delight --

--in the celebrations, and in the fact that the aged man who has done --

--so much for Germany, is still able to play--

--an active part in the affairs of the country. ... His inspection of the guard is just as thorough as most other things he does. ... The Diamond --

--Jubilee of the foundation of the State is an --

--occasion which will not be easily forgotten by those who --

--took part in the celebrations, including the troops here seen goose-stepping back to their barracks.
