KEEPING THEM BUSY - - With the passing of Armistice Day, the poppy-makers at the "Factory of Remembrance" turn their attention to Crackers for Christmas.

Picture.:- An early reminder that Christmas is coming ! This is the famous--

--Poppy Factory of Remembrance. The Poppy rush is over for one year, so the ex-service workers turn their-- --energies into making novelties for-- --a more joyful celebration. Crackers of all sorts, sizes and shapes--

--are made here in thousands. A business that goes with a bang ! The-- --men have become very skilful at performing these--

--light duties. Note how many things there are to do before you pull the cracker and push your head through a paper hat. Side lines like--

--these keep Poppy Factory workers busy all the year round. If you want a good--

--Christmas motto before finding the one inside your cracker, what about "Buy British ?"
